

Nina Parkinson

Nina Parkinson is currently a food industry consultant focusing on food safety issues. She also works part-time at the University of California Laboratory for Research in Food Preservation (UCLRFP).

She was senior scientist at the Center for Technical Assistance for the National Food Processors Association (NFPA) in Dublin, CA for 23 years.

She has extensive experience in developing, implementing and evaluating food safety programs in a variety of food manufacturing facilities. She has taught courses on food microbiology, GMPs, sanitation, HACCP and Better Process Control School in both English and Spanish.