

John Boyce works for Trident Seafoods Corporation. Trident is a vertically integrated harvester, processor and marketer of seafood from Alaska, the Pacific Northwest, Minnesota, Georgia, and around the world. John coordinates training programs for all aspects and topics relevant to food safety, product conformance, audit and regulatory compliance. John develops content and delivers training to all Trident facilities, and coordinates external instructors and training venues. John plays a central role supporting Trident's facility preparation for 3rd party audits. John has thirty-eight years of experience in the food processing industry – with over twenty-four of those years at Trident – and eight as a food safety auditor for AIB.