

Class of 2012 Future Plans

Elisha Danielle Adkins

Elisha will get married and honeymoon in Europe for six weeks. When returning from honeymooning, she will begin work at the Associated Veterinary Medical Center, a mixed animal practice, in Walla Walla, Washington.

Kate Elizabeth Anthony

Kate will begin working at a small animal and dairy practice in Tulare, California.

Lindsay Allison Baker

Lindsay is very excited to be working at WestVet Emergency and Specialty Center in Boise, Idaho as a rotating intern for the next year.

George Adam Ballard

Adam will work as a small animal associate veterinarian at Peace River Veterinary Clinic in Punta Gorda, Florida.

Haley K. Barno

Haley will start a small animal rotating internship at WestVet Animal Emergency and Specialty Center in Boise, Idaho. In addition to exploring a new city, Haley is looking forward to finding new fun trails and mountain biking and running, and getting up on the mountain for some snowboarding this winter.

Jennifer Bentley

Jennifer accepted a small animal rotating internship at a veterinary special hospital in La Jolla, California. She intends to pursue a residency in dermatology.

Heather M. Broughton

Heather will travel to South Africa to capture lions, continuing her research on Feline Immunodeficiency Virus. After that, she will work to earn a PhD in Disease Ecology/Zoology at OSU with the assistance of her Morris Animal Foundation Fellowship Training Grant.

Kathryn Alice Marie Campbell

Kathryn will complete a small animal rotating internship at WestVet Emergency and Specialty Center in Boise, Idaho.

Marie Christine Davis

Marie hopes to work in mixed animal practice in the Willamette Valley. She will continue to live in Salem, Oregon with the hopes of moving away from the suburbs to the county in a couple of years. Her first task, however, will be going on a trip to Disneyland with her husband, brother, and friends.

Catherine Marjorie Dolan

Catherine will take some time off this summer to relax, get married, and climb a few mountains before beginning her career as a mixed animal veterinarian.

Natasha Suzanne Dye

Natasha will work as an associate veterinarian locally at River's Edge Pet Medical Center, which is a companion animal practice with 24 hour emergency services available.

Tessa E. Fiamengo

Tessa has a strong interest in theriogenology and plans to pursue a career in that field.

Chelsea Elizabeth FitzSimons-Diaz

Chelsea will embark on a rotating small animal internship at the Veterinary Specialists and Emergency Service Center in Rochester, New York.

Lindsey Alaina Franz

Lindsey would like to work in a small or mixed animal practice then possibly pursue further education in public health and veterinary microbiology.

Michelle Lynn Galbraith

Michelle will work for Valley Veterinary Clinic, mixed animal practice, in Rainier, Oregon. She will perform in-house, ambulatory, and emergency medicine.

Britney Lauren Giddens

Britney will work at Santa Clara Animal Hospital, small and exotic animal, in Eugene, Oregon, and volunteer at Wildlife Safari. She plans to scuba dive in warm tropical places with her husband, and start training for her second marathon, as well.

Megan Tracy Glaser

Megan will be an associate veterinarian at a small animal practice in Newbury Park, California.

Michael Jason Glynn

Michael plans to move to Vancouver, Washington with his family, where he will work in a small animal clinic.

Liana Klassen Granum

Liana is excited to have a small animal rotating internship at VCA Northwest Veterinary Specialists in Portland, Oregon.

Andrea Marie Harwell

Andrea will start work at a mixed animal practice based out of El Paso, Texas, that services the greater Texas and New Mexico area. The practice has a mobile veterinary clinic, which services the lower income families in the southwest, as well as taking farm calls for both horses and cattle. She plans on taking a few months off before starting full-time, so she can spend time with her baby girl, LeAnn, who is now three months old.

Rachel Claus Hector

Rachel has accepted an internship in equine medicine and surgery at Paton and Martin Equine Veterinary Services in Aldergrove, British Columbia.

Kathryn Justine Hooper

Kathryn will complete an internship at Dove Lewis Emergency Animal Hospital in Portland, Oregon next year, and is very excited to have the opportunity to work with her friend and brilliant colleague, Sarah Tauber, in the upcoming year.

Elizabeth Joyce Howard

Elizabeth will be moving to Loomis, California with her husband and pets, where she will start an internship at Loomis Basin Equine Medical Center.

Jodie Marie Jones

Jodie will be stationed out of the McKenzie River Ranger Station for the summer as a youth crew leader for the Youth Conservation Corps, and will be working on wildlife projects on the Willamette National Forest. In the fall, she will return to OSU to complete a Masters in Public Health.

Jacqueline Virginia Koehne

Jacqueline will be participating in a yearlong small animal rotating internship at the Animal Specialty and Emergency Center in West Los Angeles.

Jessica Sze Man Lam

Jessica will complete a small animal rotating internship at the Ontario Veterinary College (University of Guelph).

Anna Camille Lehmann

Anna will do a small animal rotating internship at VCA Sacramento Veterinary Referral Center in California.

Dana Marie Lindemann

Dana will be completing a rotating small animal internship at California Veterinary Specialists in San Diego during the next year. In the future, she hopes to pursue a career in zoo and aquatic animal medicine.

Sandra Nancy Lloyd

Sandra will be traveling to Mongolia for a veterinary mission trip, and when she returns in July, will join a small animal practice in the Reno, Nevada area as an associate veterinarian.

Edit Meese

Edit will work at a small animal clinic in Wilsonville, Oregon, and hopes to one day specialize in Theriogenology. She is looking forward to spending more time with her husband, and working on their home.

Lisa Marie Moffenbeier

Lisa plans to work in small animal practice.

Julia Michelle Mulvaney

Julie has accepted an associate position at Mercer Island Veterinary Clinic in Seattle, which is a small animal practice with a focus on dentistry.

Andrea Nicole Names

Andrea plans to work in a small animal practice in McAllen, Texas.

Jessica Leigh Nelson

Jessica will work at a small animal general practice in Portland, Oregon.

Kimberly Rebecca Noyes

Kimberly will visit family and seek a position in food/mixed animal practice.

Joseph Michael O'Hara

Joseph is going to work in a mixed animal practice and wildlife rehabilitation clinic in Midland, Texas, and spend the rest of his life with his beautiful wife.

Kimberli Renae Parker

Kimberli will take some time off this summer while she searches for a job at a small animal clinic, attends her brother's wedding, and trains for her first triathlon.

Jennifer Mackay Pearson

Jennifer has accepted an ambulatory internship position at Cornell University.

David Christopher Pelio

David will travel to Los Angeles, California for one year where he will have a small animal rotating internship at Advanced Veterinary Care Center. Following that, he will pursue a possible residency in oncology.

Megan Lynn Puchlerz

Megan will become an associate veterinarian at Best Friends Animal Hospital in Billings, Montana.

Travis Parker Schaal

Travis will work for Hy-Line International as a Technical Services and Regulatory Veterinarian in Dallas Center, Iowa. Hy-Line is a primary breeder of egg laying chickens that ships day old chicks and fertile eggs to over 120 countries and supplies a majority of U.S. commercial egg producers.

Paul Edward Schiffgens

After taking a few weeks to travel, visit with and enjoy family, Paul will begin work at Veneta Veterinary Hospital in Veneta, Oregon.

Kate Schoenhals

Kate will take Jelly, Dulce, and Sundae with her as she completes an equine internship at Comstock Equine Hospital in Reno, Nevada. In her spare time, she plans to continue power slamming ways to save the world through veterinary medicine with her current and future colleagues, and also hike with her pets around Tahoe.

Joanna Michelle Shoberg

Joanna will work at a small animal clinic in Mukilteo, Washington.

Aaron Everett Sears

Aaron will be working at McMinnville Veterinary Hospital, a small animal practice in McMinnville, Oregon.

Kristin Sobel

Kristen will participate in a one year small animal rotating internship at Angell Animal Medical Center in Boston, Massachusetts.

Andrea Jeanine Sundholm Tepper

Andrea will start a small animal rotating internship at Ohio State University, and plans to apply for small animal surgical residency after completion of the internship. She hopes to return to Oregon and stay in academia to teach small animal surgery to future veterinary students.

Eugenia M. Tan

Eugenia has accepted a small animal internship in New York at Blue Pearl Veterinary Specialties.

Sarah Marie Tauber

Sarah has accepted an internship at Dove Lewis Emergency Animal Hospital in Portland, Oregon.

Eleanor Hanna Teplin

Eleanor will work in mixed animal practice.

Samuel Joseph Eliot Tepper

Samuel will complete a large animal ambulatory internship at Ohio State University, and will return to Oregon following where he will own a mixed animal practice. In his free time, he looks forward to exploring Oregon's wilderness areas, spending more time with his wife, and using his veterinary skills on the mission field.

Justin Keith Ward

Justin has accepted a job in Valentine, Nebraska at a full service beef veterinary practice, providing specialty reproductive procedures and routine veterinary care to cattle producers in Nebraska, South Dakota, and surrounding areas.

Melissa Sue Wilberger

Melissa will work at Linn Veterinary Hospital, mixed animal practice, in Albany, Oregon. She also plans to participate actively as a vet in endurance racing in the Pacific Northwest.